Day of Action Includes Fish Bait Decision

Knocks Out Parking Meter Ordinance In St. Louis Opinion

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri Supreme Court passed on everything from fish bait to constitutional questions in a busy opinion day Monday.

In its decisions the court:

Knocked out the St. Louis parking meter ordinance. The court said the board of aldermen illegally delegated legislative authority to the parking meter commission. But the money collected can be used in the city's general revenue fund.

Fined Riss and Co., Inc., of Kansas City and its truck supplying affiliate, Transport Manufacturing and Equipment Co., $50,000 each plus costs. If the fines are not paid within 30 days the companies will be ousted from doing business in Missouri because of repeated violations of the registration laws.

Told the Public Service Commission it could not force the Rock Island Railroad to keep its passenger service operating between Eldon and Kansas City. The court said the PSC should order Rock Island to provide a substitute method of transporting baby chicks in that area.

The Riss case at one point involved Gov. James T. Blair, who was an attorney for Riss before becoming governor. At another phase of the long controversy, Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton was quoted as telling Riss representatives not to send any politicians around to pressure him.

A special commissioner, E. C. Curtis of Springfield, had recommended the two trucking companies be fined $25,000 each. But the Supreme Court noted that in 1954 and 1955 alone, the state lost about $250,000 in fines and more than $300,000 in registration fees because of the firm's illegal operations.

In Kansas City, an attorney for Riss said the decision probably would be appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

Two Officers Solve Hit, Run Accident

Two officers played a hunch early Tuesday morning and solved a hit and run accident.

At 12:40 a.m. Larry Hays, 16, Route 4, reported to police that his 1955 Ford had been damaged considerably on the left side by an unknown vehicle while it had been parked in the 100 block of West Sixth Street.

Officers Al Blankenship and William Raines noticed that a 1951 Studebaker truck parked in the 100 block of East Seventh Street had orange paint scrapings on it. The color was that of Hays' Ford. Earlier in the even Officer Mayfield had told him that the lights had just gone out and he was on his way to have them fixed.

The truck belonged to the Cook Sales Co., East Highway 50. K. C. Link, manager, was called and told police that the truck had been taken to the Owens Tire Co., Seventh and Ohio, to have new tires put on. Police said he told them that the truck should not have been taken without his or Owens' permission.

Blankenship and Raines played their hunch and arrested Larry Green, 17, of 701½ South Ohio, and took him to the station where Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn and Coutts interrogated him. Coutts said that he confessed to taking the truck. He was charged with the investigation of tampering with a motor vehicle and released to the custody of his father.

Owens stated that the keys had been left in the truck's ignition to allow a man from Cook's to pick it up in his absence. Coutts said that police had had similar trouble with Green before, so that the hunch was a good one for the officers to play.

To Play at Ball Later

Entire James Band Will Be In Concert

Word was received here today that Harry James, noted trumpet player and orchestra leader, has asked the Sedalia Symphony Society, which fosters the symphony, if his entire orchestra could appear with the symphony from the stage of the Smith-Cotton High School Auditorium, Wednesday, April 27.

It was thought previously that James would solo as guest artist with the symphony, backed by a small rhythm section of his own orchestra. James stated he could do more justice to his solo number by being backed by his entire band. The request was granted, as the symphony board thought the new arrangement would further enhance the concert.

Harry James and the Music Makers, an orchestra which has been a household word among the dancing public for the past 20 years, will still play the Sedalia Symphony Anniversary Ball at Convention Hall after the concert with the symphony. The ball will start at 10 p.m.

James, who will be helping the Sedalia Symphony commemorate its 25th year in its final concert of the 1959-60 season, is considered the nation's top trumpeter. He has always sought out new, unusual talent for his band, and, in his constant search, has brought to the limelight such luminaries as Frank Sinatra, Dick Haymes, Connie Haines, Helen Forrest and Kitty Kallen, all of whom formerly sang with the Music Makers. This year, his orchestra is featuring Jilla Webb, beautiful, young vocalist.

Season ticket holders to the symphony concerts will be admitted free to both the concert and ball. Others are also invited to attend the two events at a nominal charge, with tickets being available at the Chamber of Commerce Office, Deck's, Shaw Music Co. and the Jefferson Piano Co.

Kirkpatrick Endorsed By Missouri Press

James C. Kirkpatrick, Windsor newspaperman and Democratic candidate for the office of Secretary of State, was endorsed and recommended to the voters of Missouri by the Central Missouri Press Association in a special resolution adopted at its annual meeting.

Composed of 28 counties across the central part of the state, the association met last week-end at Arrowhead Lodge on the Lake of the Ozarks.

This is the second press association to pass a resolution in favor of Kirkpatrick. The Northwest Missouri Press Association endorsed him at its annual convention held in St. Joseph in January.

Stella Is Unhappy With Bill

Mayor Pogue Fighting Mad At Senator

STELLA, Mo. (AP)—The townspeople of Stella are not happy about Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) blocking passage of their school bill.

The measure would excuse the school district from paying $6,200 rental to the Army for use of an abandoned officers club at Fort Crowder.

"I'm fighting mad," said Mayor Orville Pogue.

"The people involved in this situation are taxpayers who have built our government through a system of taxation. They have been taxed almost to the point of destitution and now the government, or at least a few people in power who do not know the situation, refuses them the right to use an abandoned barracks building in which to educate their children unless they pay a fantastic rental fee."

"It's disgraceful that Congress would have let this wrangle go on this long. We as taxpayers have supported our government without question for many, many years and in this type of emergency we don't feel we are asking for charity, just assurance that the government still has the good of the people in mind."

Stella asked the Army for use of the building after its consolidated school burned. School officials had the impression the rent would be nominal and were shocked when the first bill arrived.

The measure introduced to exempt the district from paying the bill became the vehicle on which the Senate civil rights bill was attached as an amendment in February.

When the Congress passed another civil rights bill which originated in the House, Stella residents thought their troubles were over.

Nixon Hit in New York

Stop Kennedy Movement Looms In West Virginia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Talk of a stop Kennedy movement flared in West Virginia today at the same time talk of a stop Nixon movement seemed snuffed in New York.

In West Virginia, political observers wondered whether a host of Democratic presidential candidates had thrown their support to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota in the state's May 10 primary.

Their aim: to halt the momentum of Sen. John F. Kennedy's drive toward the party's nomination. The Massachusetts senator and Humphrey are the only candidates entered in the primary.

In New York, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller opposed circulation of a letter that belittled the qualifications of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidency. Some Republican supporters of Rockefeller had signed the letter.

Nixon, in San Francisco to open the baseball season told a newsman he was not disturbed by the letter and, in fact, thought it might add spice to the campaign. Adlai Stevenson continued to draw support for the Democratic nomination despite his repeated statements that he is not a candidate.

The question of a possible gang-up on Kennedy in West Virginia was raised by former Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. (D-NY), a Kennedy supporter.

South Africans Embark On New Immigration Program

Asks Probe Into Basic Cause of Race Turmoil

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The South African government, fully alert to the magnitude of its race problem, announced today it is embarking on a large scale program to bring in white immigrants.

Interior Minister J. F. Naude told Parliament the government now considers immigration "of the utmost importance for the union."

The nationalist government has been under fire for years from the opposition for failing to promote immigration and improve the balance of three million whites against 10 million blacks.

Naude denied long standing allegations that the nationalists have impeded immigration by English-speaking people because of the fear they would vote against the nationalist government, run by men of Dutch descent.

A spokesman for the opposition to the government of the wounded Prime Minister, Hendrik F. Verwoerd, called for an inquiry into the basic causes of African discontent.

Sir de Villiers Graaff, United party leader, said he and his followers intend to bring pressure on the government for an investigation of the reasons for Negro unrest once the present state of emergency is ended.

Graaff said at a news conference in Cape Town while police pressed further raids for alleged subversives. The Cabinet made clear there will be no easing of South Africa's strict segregation policies during the convalescence of Verwoerd.

The United party's chieftain said the proposed inquiry would provide an opportunity for criticism of the government's handling of the present situation.

Both the United party and Verwoerd's dominant National party are for continued white supremacy in South Africa but differ as to methods.

Three armored cars backed a 100 police, white and Negro, in raids today on African settlements in southwest Johannesburg. These were part of a campaign to root out alleged African gangster elements and to seize contraband weapons.

Newspapers were filled with government warnings that apartheid policies will be strictly maintained while Verwoerd, shot twice in the head by a white farmer Saturday, is on the sidelines.

Sedalia Federal Aid Amount Is Announced

In a telegram from Missouri's Senators, Thomas G. Hennings, Jr. and Stuart Symington, the Democrat was notified Tuesday that federal aid to the Sedalia School District 200 will amount to $20,158 with $15,118 certified for immediate use.

The senators said that the commissioner of education had notified them of the sum.

County Health Meet Is Highly Successful

"Our County Nurse, Mrs. Gertrude Berlin, R.N., has accomplished a lot since the office of Pettis County Nursing Service was reopened in Sept. 1959," said Presiding Judge C. Berry Elliott, last night. With this remark, he set the pace for the Health Conference at the R.E.A. Building attended by 106 persons, from all areas of Pettis County: sponsored by the County Court and Health Advisory Committee.

Rev. E. F. Rohlfing, gave the invocation. Judge Elliott then introduced the other members of the County Court: Judge C. M. Purchase, and Judge E. L. Birdsong.

Public health services in Pettis County were described briefly by Mrs. Berlin pointed to dental illustrations of the family and individual relations and emotional problems involved in her work.

Mrs. Berlin pointed to dental health as the current problem needing coordinated efforts for solution.

She introduced Mrs. Betty Murrell, Sedalia Public School nurse, and thanked Mrs. Murrell for her assistance and support during the past year. She also expressed her appreciation to the many organizations, groups, and individuals who have given their time and efforts to aid in her services.

Rep. Milton Overstreet reported the legislative committees agreed that public health services were more effective if administered on the local level and made appropriation recommendations on anticipated local financial responsibility assumption. He added that legislative appropriations are made to the State Division of Health to supplement salaries of local public health personnel, where and when employed.

Based upon current assessed evaluation and amount appropriated for this purpose, Representative Overstreet explained Pettis County is now receiving from the (Please turn to page 4, column 5)

L. Williams Shot, Killed By a Negro

Former Sedalian Was Removing Gas Meter From Home

Lloyd A. Williams, 62, former Sedalian, was shot and killed about 3:30 p.m. Monday at Minneapolis, Minn., by a Negro, who threatened him should he remove a gas meter. Williams, an employee of the Minneapolis Gas Co., had orders to remove the meter and, in company with a helper and Company collector, went to the home to remove the meter after the Negro was reported to have failed to pay his bill.

Word received by relatives here was that when Williams and the two men went to the home, the Negro made the threat. However, Williams went ahead to take the meter out and the Negro pulled a gun and shot, killing Williams instantly. The Negro shot the collector twice and the helper succeeded in escaping from the place.

Williams had been employed by the company in Minneapolis for about 25 years. In Sedalia he was connected with the Oxtell Rail Road Service Co., and was with the firm at the Missouri Pacific and M-K-T shops for several years. He left here about 1934 and was in Michigan for a short time, before going to Minneapolis.

Williams, a native of Sedalia, was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Asa Williams. He was reared and educated here. He was married to Virginia Teeter, of Sedalia, who survives him, as does a son, Kenneth Williams, of Aurora, Ill., by a previous marriage, and his two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Lund, of Wisconsin and Mrs. Barbara Cannon of Michigan.

Two sisters and two brothers also survive. They are Mrs. Mae Kirby, of the telephone company here, who was in Minneapolis visiting with her brother and sister-in-law at the time; Miss Helen Williams, clerk at the Bothwell Hotel, both of 306 West Sixth; Forrest Williams, Columbia, Mo.; and Victor Williams, Kansas City.

Miss Williams and her two brothers are leaving today for Minneapolis. Funeral arrangements have not been made, pending the arrival of his son, two daughters, brothers and sisters.

Number of Call-backs Are Being Reported

* A large number of call-backs are still being reported as the census enumerators bring the head-count to a close in Sedalia, it was reported Tuesday.

Mrs. Ruth Seifert, local census supervisor, requested that any person finding the census takers notice on their door, call the enumerator in their district. However, if the person is unknown, Sedalians are requested to call the Chamber of Commerce or Mrs. Seifert at TA 6-7221.

County residents not notified should get in touch with Mrs. Lloyd Smith, at Green Ridge or at the census office at the court house.

If new residents arrive, Mrs. Seifert requested they call her or the Chamber of Commerce. This also applies to people who have moved from one part of the city to another, and have not been counted.

To Equalize Work Load

Police Make Officer Shifts; New Coffee Break System

A new work schedule has been planned for the Sedalia Police Department, effective April 15, Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin has announced. Shifting of police officers has also been made and a new system of coffee breaks for the officers arranged.

In the past year few changes have been made in the working of the officers, the majority remaining on the night shift, the others on the two day shifts. Chief Hamlin indicated he would begin shifting the officers from time-to-time to give them a chance to work day shifts on equal basis, depending on how the plan works out.

"The election is over and we are getting back in the saddle. I expect the full support and cooperation from all the men to give Sedalia a better police department. Any changes which I have made are what I believe are for the betterment of the department," Hamlin said.

Continuing the chief said, "I anticipate few changes in personnel. I will recommend various re-appointments including both Assistant Chief Jack Coutts and Sgt. William E. Miller."

The 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. shift will have Sgt. Charles Homan on the desk, Sgt. Perry Franklin, Officers Raymond Simons, Clarence Harrell, Oliver Cox, and Charles Ellis.

The 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. shift will have Officer Jewel Riley on the desk, with Officers Clyde Nicewarner, Edward Laird, Robert Quann, Herbert Petree, Robert T. Knox and Lester Williams. Williams will be the senior officer on the shift.

The 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. shift includes Assistant Chief Jack Coutts, Sgt. Charles Knapp, Sgt. James Clifford, Sgt. William E. Miller and Sgt. John McDonald, with Officers Albert Blankenship, William Raines, Charles Stuart, George Naylor, Sr., John Fair, Lon Maness, Herbert Mayfield, E. L. Fennell, Clarence Fwellen, Overton Buckner and William H. Burnham, the latter three colored officers.

U. L. Howerton remains as traffic clerk; Clarence Weathers, poundmaster; James Green parking meter mechanic; Officers Larry Gardner and Robert Vogler, parking meter officers.

Changes which have been made as of April 15 will be shifting of Sergeants Miller and McDonald to the night shift, along with Of-

Mo-Pac May Change Way Of Election

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A proposal to change the method of electing the Board of Directors of the Missouri Pacific Railroad will be voted on for the fourth consecutive year at the annual meeting of the railroad's stockholders here May 10.

The proposal is that all 15 directors be elected each year for one-year terms.

MOPAC directors now serve staggered three-year terms with five elected annually.

The management of the railroad opposes the proposal which has been submitted again by stockholder Donald D. Wilson of Oak Park, Ill. He claims the present system encourages a "self-perpetuating" board.

Management claims the present system "promotes the continuity of sound and experienced management."

Monday, the Mississippi River Fuel Corp. announced the purchase of 25,000 shares of Class A common stock in the railroad, bringing its total holdings to 305,000 shares or 16.4 per cent of MOPAC voting stock.

William G. Marbury, chairman of the board of the pipeline firm, said MRF has been authorized by its Board of Directors to buy more shares when the market and economic conditions are favorable.

The corporation has been buying MOPAC stock since February of 1959.

Marbury, a director of MOPAC, denied that MRF is trying to gain control of the railroad.

The Missouri Pacific's principal trackage is in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Texas. It also has lines in Illinois, Nebraska, Colorado and Oklahoma and operates connecting services into Louisiana and Texas via the Texas and Pacific, of which it is the principal owner.

Knob Noster School Received 'M&N' Payment Recently

Knob Noster School has received its first payment of the 1959-60 "Maintenance and Operation" money recently in amount of $110,601.00. This amount was certified for immediate payment out of a tentative entitlement of $147,468.00.

"M & O" money is paid by the federal government to qualifying schools each year. To qualify, a school's expenses and responsibilities must have been increased substantially because of activities of the federal government. These funds must be spent for teachers and incidental purposes and cannot be used for buildings or equipment that is classed as capital outlay.

All of the money for operating Whiteman School comes through the federal and state governments.

House Payola, Quiz Show Group Opens Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — A house subcommittee opens hearings today on measures aimed at preventing a recurrence of the quiz show and payola scandals.

Chairman Frederick W. Ford of the Federal Communications Commission was called as the opening witness on legislation to impose new curbs on the broadcasting industry.

Spokesmen for the National Assn. of Broadcasters and the big television-radio networks also were expected to testify during the initial round of hearings today and Wednesday.

Altogether, the House Commerce subcommittee has before it more than a dozen bills designed to eliminate deceit, cheating and other alleged irregularities in TV and radio.

Major attention is on two bills by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) stemming from the investigation by his Legislative Oversight subcommittee into rigging of TV quiz shows.

Among other things, the Harris bills would:

1. Make it a criminal offense to rig or fix a TV or radio program involving a contest of knowledge or skill with the intent of deceiving the public.

2. Outlaw payola by requiring that all broadcast matter for which a station has received a direct or indirect payment be accompanied by an announcement telling who made the payment.

3. Require TV and radio networks to obtain operating licenses from the FCC as is now required of individual stations. The FCC now can regulate the networks only indirectly through its supervisory supply to affiliated stations.

4. Authorize the FCC to suspend the licenses of offending stations for up to 10 days. The commission's only present weapon against offending stations is license revocation but the FCC contends this is too drastic.

5. Require the FCC to establish rules and regulations requiring the networks to exercise supervision and control over all material they supply to affiliated stations.

School Situation Comedy

'High School Hero' Is Play Of Sacred Heart's Seniors

The senior play, "High School Hero", a comedy in three acts was presented Sunday night at Sacred Heart auditorium, with an excellent cast of characters.

The story involved a young woman who had, for the first year, taken over the position of principal of the high school, and the many big problems that confronted her during that year. Catherine Mehl did an outstanding performance as the new principal, who solved her problems one by one through her deep understanding of her students and the things that were happening.

The cast included, in addition to Catherine, who played the part of Eleanor Spencer, the principal, the new football coach, Dan Conrad, played by James Wiesing, who got off on the wrong foot with the new principal at the start because he didn't realize one so young could be a high school principal; Bill Rockwell, a high school hero well played by Adam Fischer; Johnny Pringle, a hotrod driver, was typically cast in Kenneth Berlin, who had a bad accident from his speeding for which Bill took the blame and went to jail; Sue Pringle, played by Mary Beth Staley, who was very good in the part of sister of Johnny and girl friend of Bill; Lunk Bennett, a fullback, who couldn't learn English and for whom the principal finally gave him the only English test she knew he could pass so he could play in the game that afternoon. Walter Zimmerschied took the part of Lunk.

Joanna Huff did a nice job as Gertrude Winston, the bright student, who could never work up much enthusiasm about things and was always ready to throw cold water on everything. Nancy Fishley, a girl who was always losing things, was played by Martha Martin, and led the way to the discovering that Rose Kern, a mentally sick girl, played by Shirley Goss, was taking things from the students. This was another thing the principal ironed out, when she recognized the girl was ill and saw that she got proper treatments. Mike Mulligan, the sheriff, was played by Charles Bahner, and Mary Barnes, a girl whose mother took in washing to support her, wanted to quit school because the other kids made fun of her clothes. This part was played by Susan Bopp. The principal took a hand there, too, by talking her into staying in school and anonymously giving her six dresses.

Heddy Hess, the school vamp, who tried to break up the love affair between Sue and Bill, was played by Carol Brosch. Alma Dillinsworth, an English teacher, who loved everybody, and a friend of the principal, was played by Dorothy Anderson; Roddy Franklin, a high school editor, could never see that anything ever happened at the school, was played by Paul Bennett. Mrs. Pringle, the mother of Johnny and Sue, was played by Carolyn Bennett.

The play was directed by the Rev. Gerald P. Pelletier, C. PP. S.

YOUR EYES AND VISUAL FUNCTIONS

For many months in the latter part of the last decade we read glowing accounts of the fabulous 1960's and the opportunities, growth and general good times which would prevail in this new decade. Now that we have arrived how are we finding conditions and what do the years ahead hold?

The thoughtful person will realize that times and conditions will not be the same for all; that there is no easy road to the top for most men and women, and that for most of us whatever success and achievement we have will be the result of thinking, planning and, above all ever-lasting effort and hard work.

To those who wish to help themselves to realize their aims, purposes and goals, the Missouri Optometric Association would suggest the importance of keeping physically fit. It should be remembered that next to life itself good vision is of paramount importance. Our safety, achievement, learning and earning are intimately dependent upon our ability to see easily and well.

Play, sports, travel and various other forms of recreation mean much in today's living and no doubt will continue to do so as we move along into the 1960's. Here again, comfortable and efficient vision is a must if we would enjoy life to the fullest.

Optometry has much to offer people who will value their eyes and vision enough to have regular, periodic examinations. More and more people are coming to realize the importance of vision care and protection.

VALIANT LOWERS YOUR COST OF LIVING IT UP!

Valiant wagons look like they'd cost a bundle. But they just look expensive. They're really nickel-nurses at heart!

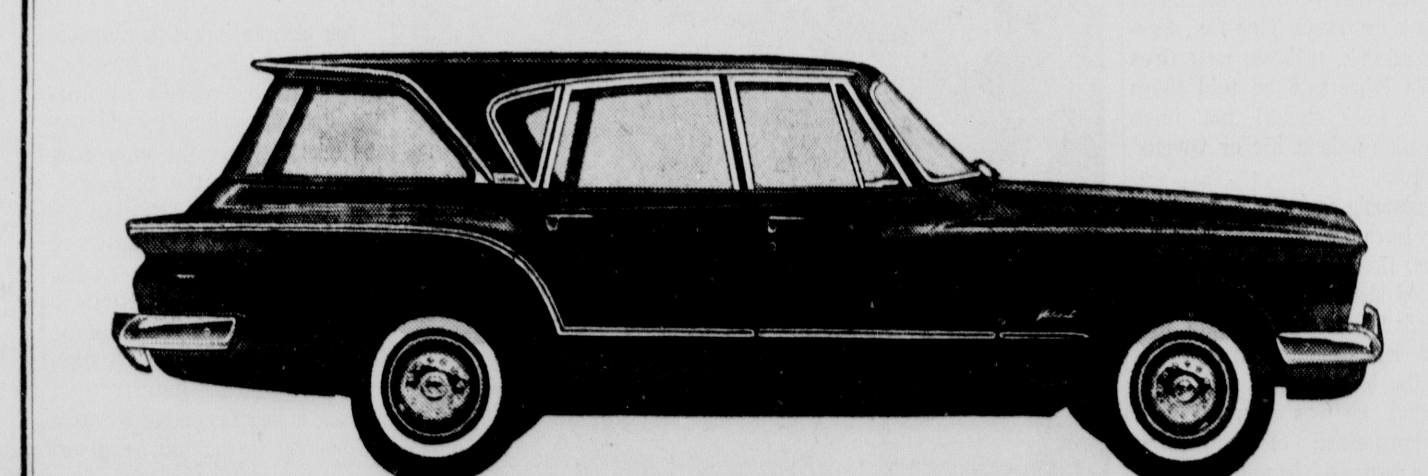

Take Valiant's inclined engine. Very open-handed with performance, tight-fisted with a gallon of gas. Or take its battery-saving alternator electrical system. Same with Valiant's rust-proofed fully unitized body. A perfect teammate for another Valiant feature—Torsion-Aire suspension. It takes the lumps out of bumps. Transmissions? Suit yourself. Pick a floor-mounted stick shift. Or a three-speed push button automatic, optional at extra cost. Both get great gas mileage.

And now let's give more thought to your family. Valiant wagons have lots of room for legs, elbows, hips, and plenty of headroom, too. All that plus: 72 cubic feet of wide open cargo space.

Like we said, Valiant wagons lower your cost of living it up. Just look at one. Then imagine yourself behind the wheel. Great, isn't it? That's nothing compared with getting behind the wheel for real—and for keeps!

Former Sedalian's Recipe Wins Second Place Prize

Mrs. Bob Younger, Ft. Meyers, Fla., formerly of Sedalia, won second place in the All-Florida Orange Dessert Contest in Winter Haven, Fla., on April 1.

Mrs. Younger, at 35, was the youngest of the 12 contestants, and is the mother of four boys ranging in age from 5 to 13, who share equally 33 awards won in health children contests.

Four years and a half ago the Younger family moved to Ft. Meyers from Sedalia where her husband had been an announcer on KDRO. Now he is in the adverlicense to help more people to find a Florida home.

Mrs. Younger has been gathering recipes and cooking for 21 years, when she first became in- she alters to suit herself. Family activities keep her busy attending PTA meetings, Scout meetings and trips to the beach, and she also finds time to serve as general secretary for her Baptist Sunday School.

Mrs. Younger was sponsored in the grand finals by Florida Power & Light Co., having won out in its Western Division semi-finals.

And here's that winning recipe:

Sunshine Island

1-3 cup vegetable shortening
1½ cups Sugar
3 Eggs
2¼ cups Sifted Flour
2¼ teaspoon Baking Powder
1 teaspoon Salt
½ cup Milk
½ cup Orange Juice
1½ teaspoon Grated Orange Rind
1 cup Coconut Flakes

Cream together butter, shortening and sugar until fluffy. Beat in thoroughly the eggs. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt. Stir in alternating with milk and orange juice. Add coconut, rind. Bake in 9 inch pans greased and floured for 25 to 30 minutes in 350 degree oven. Put cooled layers together with clear orange filling. Frost top and sides with orange mountain icing. Decorate with fresh orange sections (membrane removed) nestled in coconut.

Clear Orange Filling

1 cup Sugar
4 tablespoons Cornstarch
½ teaspoon Salt
2 tablespoons Butter
1 cup Orange Juice
2 tablespoons Grated Orange Rind
1½ tablespoon Lemon Juice

Mix together in saucepan and bring to rolling boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Cool.

Orange Mountain Icing

2 Egg Whites
1 cup Sugar
½ teaspoon Cream of Tartar
¼ cup Orange Juice
Dash of Salt
2 tablespoons Light Corn Syrup

Combine all ingredients in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water stirring occasionally for about 2 minutes. Then with mixer, on high speed, beat until mixture holds its shape.

T. J. Pace Celebrates 90th Birthday Sunday

T. J. Pace, Green Ridge, celebrated his 90th birthday Sunday, April 3, at the home of his daughter, Miss Anna Lou Pace, in Kansas City, where he has made his home for the past three years.

Members of the family present for the celebration were Mrs. Estalene Calvert, Lamar, and sons, Donald Calvert, Osceola, and Mr. and Mrs. David Calvert and sons, Bobby and Jimmy, Jefferson City, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ely, Sr., Hannibal.

Unable to be present were two granddaughters, Mrs. Dorothy Jeanne Calvert Donley, Rock, Kan., and Ben Ely, Jr., a student at Washington University Law School, St. Louis.

Mr. Pace was born on a farm in Pettis County April 1, 1870, and has spent his entire life in the county.

Psychiatrists Must Listen To All Kinds of Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that psychiatrists get tired of hearing:

"What do you guys really think about while patients are telling you their troubles?"

"How come you charge my wife $30 an hour to listen to her — and I've been listening to her 25 years for nothing?"

"Enough of my worries, doc. Now you lie down on the couch and tell me what's on your mind."

"There's nothing really wrong with me. I'm just a crazy, mixed up kid."

Mark Twain School Observes Arbor Day

The observance of Arbor Day was held at Mark Twain School Friday, April 8.

Arbor Day is unlike other public holidays. These all commemorate great events of the past. But Arbor Day is a link with the future. When a tree is planted it is the future generations who profit by the planting. Whether the tree is useful for fruit, lumber or just used to beautify our lawns, parks or roadsides.

The pupils of Mark Twain School gave the following program for Arbor Day:

I. Why we observe Arbor Day
a. origin
b. purpose
c. benefits of planting
II. 70 children took part, each representing a tree. Six different types of trees were named and uses and purpose of each type was discussed.

III. The planting of a tree indoors with appropriate dedication remarks in poem form was given by Vickie Martin and Steve McLead.

The dedication was followed by a song, "Trees" which was sung by Lou Ann Lange and Jeanne Ann Madden.

After the indoor program the seventh grade with officers of the PTA and several interested friends observed the planting of a red bud tree on Mark Twain School grounds, which was planted as a living memorial to Mrs. Lela Canaday, who was the First President of the Mark Twain PTA.

The tree was given by Mrs. M. E. Johnson, whose mother, Mrs. Morrison, was a charter member of the First PTA.

The program was planned and directed by Mrs. C. E. VanHorn and Mr. Jack Delph, principal and teacher of the school staff.

"No, he's not a real doctor. He's one of those head shrinkers."

"Now don't you try to tell me I secretly hated my mother. Why, when she died, I bought her the biggest headstone in the cemetery."

"Ever since I got that letter from the Internal Revenue Service, I've had the feeling I'm being followed. Is that a delusion of persecution, or a delusion of grandeur?"

"Night after night I have this weird dream of flying through the air with my neighbor's wife. I can't understand it. She's the homeliest dame in the block."

"Before I lie down, I'd like to ask you one thing. Do you accept credit cards?"

"My problem is that lately my wife seems to be getting better looking. Do you think it's my eyes that are going — or could it be my mind?"

"It's about my husband. He mumbles in his sleep. No, I don't want to cure him. I just want you to find a way to make him speak more clearly."

"You're my last hope, doc. Just answer me one question. Can psychiatry help baldness?"

"You psychiatrists must have your own troubles, too. Who do you tell them to?"

"We have a mother-in-law problem in our home. Whose story do you want to listen to first — hers, my wife's or mine?"

"It's about my drinking. After my eighth martini, my mind begins to wander. Do you think I should switch to vodka?"

"Can a neurosis cause fat? The reason I ask is — ever since my wife started acting neurotic I've been putting on weight."

"Now don't tell me what I need is a new hobby. My husband has a new hobby, and that's why I'm here. His hobby is his secretary."

"The way I diagnose it myself is that I've got an inferiority complex. Lately I been getting the feeling I'm dumber than my boss."

Mr. and Mrs. Sims Observe Anniversary

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kidwell, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Yarnell and Rita and Harvey Yarnell.

Leukemia Victim Who Talked to Pope Will Fly Home Tomorrow

ROME (AP) — Catherine Hudson, a 7-year-old American girl suffering from fatal leukemia, flies home Wednesday with her fondest wish fulfilled. Pope John XXIII gave her an extraordinary, 40-minute private audience.

"We never imagined anything so wonderful," exclaimed Catherine's widowed mother, Marlene Hudson of Oklahoma City. "The audience was a miracle, a miracle."

Private papal audiences normally are restricted to diplomats and other high officials.

Through interpreters the 78-year-old pontiff chatted with the dark-haired child and showed her around the little throne room of the papal apartment. Catherine wore the white dress and veil in which she made her first communion a year ago.

Prairie Ridge Club Discusses Program For 4-H Sunday

The Prairie Ridge 4-H Club met April 7 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Bakert.

Castro Won't Give Up Two Americans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fidel Castro's Cuban government has rejected an American plea to return two American fliers shot down in Cuba after a sneak flight from Florida.

The State Department, disclosing this Monday, announced also its own rejection of three Cuban protests on other matters.

At the time the two fliers were arrested, Cuba said they were trying to spirit out of the country a former agent of ex-President Fulgencio Batista, who was deposed by Castro's revolution.

U.S. authorities later said they obtained a statement from one of the American fliers, William J. Schergales, 34, that Castro's regime cooked up the flight to embarrass the United States.

Cuba's refusal to return the men heightened Washington suspicions on this score. Cuba said Schergales and Howard Rundquist, 33, are subject to Cuban court action for a crime against Cuba.

The United States had wanted to investigate Schergales and Rundquist for possible violation of American laws in making their secret flight.

One of three US notes delivered to Cuba spurned a Cuban protest over a new U.S. clampdown on sale of helicopters to Cuba.

The U.S. reply said a policy has begun two years ago of closely studying all Caribbean arms requests. It said arms shipments had been denied to Batista before Castro.

"It was the profound hope of the United States that with the establishment of the present government of Cuba, peace and tranquility would be restored to the Caribbean area," the note said. "This hope has not been realized."

In another note, the United States rejected as unfounded a Cuban charge that former Batista army men are being employed at the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo. The note also refused a request to re-hire a Cuban labor leader who had been fired at the base.

The third note turned down a Cuban request to keep U.S. fruit inspectors in Cuba. These Agriculture Department inspectors had been sent to Cuba in 1955 to help Cuban shippers meet U. S. marketing standards for fruits and vegetables.

The note said the inspectors were needed elsewhere and that Cuba had been notified last December that they would be withdrawn by the end of February.

Dalton Draws Lucky Name Out of PTA Jar

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton was given the job of presenting a potted plant to a lucky winner at a city-wide Parent-Teachers Assn. meeting Monday night.

The state's chief law enforcement officer, who has directed drives against lotteries, stuck his hand into a jar and drew out the name of the winner.

Suddenly Dalton paused and shuddered. Then he asked the crowd for an opinion:

"This isn't a lottery, is it?" Nobody was sure except Dalton and he dropped the subject.

Information Group Conducts Rotary Meeting

The Rotary Information Committee, of which Oscar DeWolf is chairman, was in charge of the program at the regular meeting of the Sedalia Rotary Club Monday noon, Hotel Bothwell.

Members of the Sedalia Rotary Club asked prepared questions and gave the answers. D. S. Lamm, Lawrence Barnett and K. U. Love, members of the Information Committee assisted in presenting the correct answers when necessary.

The program was introduced by Emory Bowman, who served as program chairman in the absence of Otis Wiley.

Guests at the meeting were: Mrs. Lena Pennington, Kansas City; three brothers, Lee Decker, Norborne; Fred Decker, Sedalia and Roy Decker, Syracuse, and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by a sister, Mrs. Leslie Faulwell and two brothers, William and L. A. Decker.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Fortuna Methodist church of which she was a member, with the pastor, the Rev. Joe Lightner, to officiate.

Mrs. Zora Charles will be in charge of the music.

Pallbearers will be: Edgar Drake, Charlie Lawson, Edgar Monks, Jack Watring, V. O. Carter and David Devine.

Passing Policemen Make Arrest After A Short Gun Fight

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two policemen who happened by a small hotel while a holdup was in progress there captured two Chicago brothers today after firing six shots into a hotel room where they had barricaded themselves.

The brothers, Raymond Franz, 27, and Richard Franz, 32, did not return the fire and surrendered. A revolver was found in the room.

Mrs. Florence Younger, desk clerk at the LaMarcy Hotel, occupying the second and third floors of a downtown building, had signalled to the officers on the street outside for help.

As the two officers entered, unaware of the holdup, the bandits concealed themselves and held the 60-year-old woman at gunpoint. She ran for cover, warning the policemen that the men were armed, and the brothers darted into the room behind the cashier's office.

Mrs. Younger said the pair took $100. Police found $107 on the men and $65 in another hotel room where they said they had been staying since their arrival from Chicago Sunday.

The pair was booked suspected of robbery.

Margaret Will Use 298-Year-Old Promise

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret has chosen a 298-year-old wedding vow to "obey" commoner Antony Armstrong-Jones when she marries him May 6 in Westminster Abbey.

The dean of Westminster, Dr. Eric S. Abbott, told a news conference today part of the wedding ceremony would be taken from the Church of England's 1662 prayer book. It is in that version the bride vows to obey her husband.

"They felt the language of the 1662 vows is in every way deeper and richer," said Dr. Abbott.

Cape Records First Death From Polio

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—The first polio death in the Cape Girardeau area this year was recorded at St. Francis Hospital Monday.

The victim was Mrs. Rebecca P. Gifford, 22, wife of Harry Gifford of East Prairie, Mo.

Mrs. Gifford was admitted last Friday, suffering from bulbar spinal polio.

Besides her husband, she leaves three children.

on charges they murdered the doctor's wife last July 18.

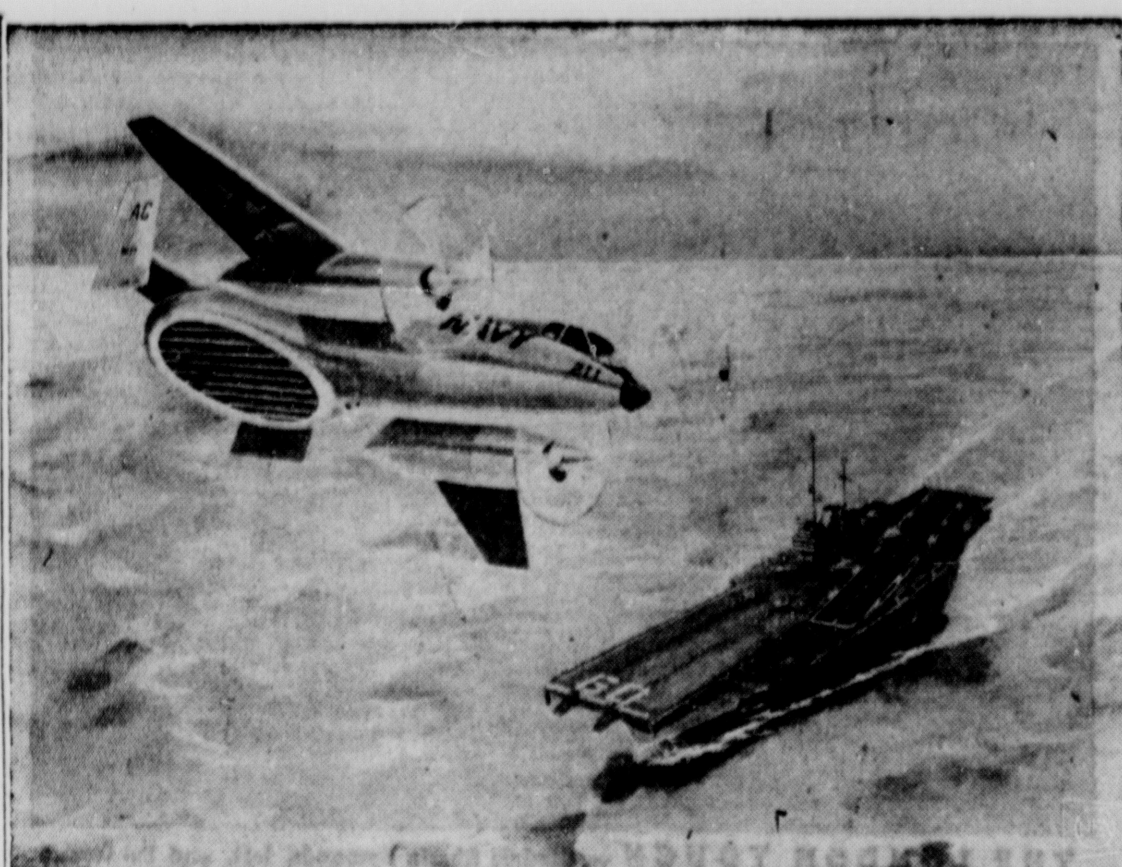

They will have the opportunity to avoid the retrial, if they wish, by pleading guilty.

But the district attorney said Monday his office would accept guilty pleas only to the original charges, murder and conspiracy. Their first trial on these charges ended March 16 in a hung jury. The doctor's attorney denied reports Finch might change his plea to guilty, even to a lesser charge of manslaughter.

Miss Tregoff was freed on $25,000 bail pending the retrial, now set for May 23. The doctor was denied bail and has been held at county jail.

Judge Says New Bread Law Legal

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair today upheld the validity of Missouri's new bread weight law.

He did not express his views at length but merely noted in his docket book that the bakers lost their case.

The suit was filed by six members bakers of the Missouri Bakers Assn., including Leroy Gillan of Moberly, president of the association.

It was not known immediately whether the bakers would appeal to the Missouri Supreme Court. Under the new law commercial bakers must produce their loaves in weights of a half pound, a pound, a pound and a half or multiples of one pound.

The bakers said it would cost them more than a million dollars to make the changes in their equipment if they have to comply with the law. They said portions of the law were unconstitutional because they take property without due process of law.

Under the act, inspectors can arbitrarily seize any loaves not meeting the weight sections.

The state contended the bread weight provisions were just part of an act designed to protect consumers and law-abiding producers from those who attempt to gain business through fraudulent means.

The bakers said the title of the act — "a system of weights and measures" — was too broad. But the state replied it was directed at the problem of assuring proper weights on merchandise offered the public.

Five Shots Were Enough to Kill Him This Time

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Thomas Lindell Lawrence, oft-arrested underworld character, died early today from five bullet wounds suffered in an unexplained fracas in a St. Louis apartment Monday.

The 43-year-old ex-convict was shot four times in the head and once in the neck.

Police received reports two men had accompanied him to his third floor living quarters after drinking with him in a tavern. Officers were seeking the men.

Only three months ago Lawrence survived seven bullet wounds.

Lawrence had been involved in several other shootings. He was once questioned in the still unsolved murder of James S. Bullock, utility company clerk and part-time student at St. Louis University, who was slain near the city art museum in Forest Park in 1958.

Last Jan. 10, he was shot seven times in a gun battle in a tavern in south St. Louis.

He was released from City Hospital Feb. 8 after recovering from those wounds.

In 1953, Lawrence was sentenced to one to seven years in prison in Illinois for manslaughter in the slaying of Thaddeus R. Skeer, operator of a night club in Madison, Ill.

Changes of the officers are made pending the appointment of new officers, if any, and re-appointment of present officers, Chief Hamlin remarked in releasing the assignments.

The Chief also set down a new rule governing the coffee breaks. "I feel one break between starting time and lunch should be enough and at no time shall there be more than two officers out of service at a time," Hamlin also issued orders that officers in patrol cars shall take their coffee break at a restaurant or cafe in their own territory and not drive in to police headquarters and leave their areas. The officers on duty in the day time at the station will have their breaks accordingly and will go to such places as are near the police station.

Hamlin said that for some time he has received complaints of officers going on coffee breaks together and at times no cars were actually in service. "I am hoping the plan will work out to the satisfaction of the officers as well as affording the public constant police service by keeping patrol cars on the move at all times," the Chief said.

Man Holds Police at Bay For 17 Hours

PULASKI, Va. (AP)—A young husband barricaded in a brick bungalow for 17 hours opened fire at police and newsmen today. He threatened harm to his 10-year-old sister-in-law, held hostage.

Jack Jennings, 18, fired several shotgun blasts—one which pinned two photographers behind a tree—and later sent out a note attached to an arrow. It demanded a conference.

"How would all you all like it if a 10-year-old girl got raped?" the note read. "I don't think you would like it, so let's get somebody out there to talk to me fast."

The note was signed "jackie." Jennings broke away from police taking him to jail Monday after a court hearing on a charge of unauthorized use of a car. He forced Barbara Butts, his sister-in-law, to accompany him, and took refuge in the house, the residence of C. W. Butts, his father-in-law.

A small army of police surrounded the home.

Except for occasional shouted invectives, the night hours passed quietly. Then at 8:20 a.m. Jennings fired two shots—apparently without any specific target—into a vacant lot across the street.

A few minutes later he spotted photographers Doug Lester and Sonny Willis of Christiansburg crouched behind a tree and yelled:

"Get the hell out from behind that tree."

Pellets from a shot spattered around a tree, forcing the men to hug the ground. As Jennings reloaded, the two broke to safety.

After he fired the arrow and note into the parking lot of a service station across the street, Jennings fired three more times.

The telephone company disconnected the phone to the Butts home, after Jennings had talked during the night to newsmen from throughout the country.

During a call placed by The Associated Press, Jennings said he would give up his fight for free passage out of town and a job elsewhere.

At that time he said little Barbara was "just fine. She's asleep now."

He was asked what he thought the escapee would gain him.

"A couple of dead cops. I just don't like them. They're always on my back about something."

He had been charged with unauthorized use of his father-in-law's car.

Second Bond Election

NOEL, Mo. (AP)—Opposing forces in a heated municipal waterworks controversy go to the polls at Noel today to vote on a proposed $185,000 revenue bond issue for construction of a city-owned water system.

This will be the second election. The first time, March 8, the issue involved $165,000 in general obligation bonds and was defeated.

Principals in the controversy which has split the city are Forrest Harmon, owner of the Noel waterworks, and Mayor Rudy Hansen and the City Council.

A four-sevenths majority of the voters must approve the revenue bonds for passage. In the last election, which required a two-thirds majority, the issue missed approval by 65 votes.

Beverly Takes Detector Test On Alleged Suicide

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Beverly Aadland underwent a lie detector test Monday night and re-told her story of the shooting of William (Billy the Kid) Stanciu.

The test was conducted as part of what homicide detectives termed "an intensive investigation" of the death of the aspiring young actor.

Members of Stanciu's family have hinted the youth may not have shot himself. Homicide detectives said the death was still listed as an apparent suicide.

Beverly, 17-year-old girlfriend of the late Errol Flynn, volunteered for the test.

She said Stanciu, a suitor, came to her Hollywood apartment early Saturday, menaced her with a revolver in a game of Russian roulette, raped her at gunpoint and then fired a bullet into his own temple.

He died Sunday at General Hospital, booked on suspicion of rape, on his 21st birthday.

Miss Aadland was taken to Juvenile Hall pending a hearing to determine if she has "adequate parental supervision." Her mother, Florence Aadland, 52, with whom she lived, was in a hospital at the time of the shooting—recovering, she said, from a beating administered her by Stanciu, who had dated the girl for six weeks.

Many Will Go To Aging Meet In Warrensburg

Many local people will take part in the West Central Regional meeting of the Missouri Committee for the 1960 White House Conference on Aging, to be held April 21 in Warrensburg.

The meeting will begin with a dinner at 6:30 p.m., at the Latter Day Saints Church. A town hall meeting will follow the dinner and a talk by Emil E. Brill, St. Louis, committee chairman. During the town hall meeting, representatives of different phases of activity concerning the aging will give talks.

James T. Denny, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and Thomas Nash, Social Security Administration, both of Sedalia, will talk on income maintenance.

Mrs. Estella Gidden, president of the Salvation Army's Golden Age Club, Sedalia, and William Lyon, director of parks and recreation, Marshall, will discuss the use of leisure time.

Miss Lea Cook, a registered nurse from the Community Convalescent Home in Windsor, Mrs. M. E. Green superintendent of Buena Vista Home, Sedalia, and Dr. Guss C. Salley, Warsaw, will discuss housing.

People from outside the Sedalia area will also talk on these subjects. The meeting is open to the public.

OUTSIDE NEWSPAPERBOYS
NEWSPAPERBOY OF THE MONTH
KENNETH SILVER
Windsor, Mo.
Kenneth Silver, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Silver, Windsor, tops all outside newspaperboys this month. Kenny, who has been managing a Democrat newspaper route since last September, has exhibited initiative and salesmanship in building his route business to an all time high. His service has been outstanding and he has made many friends through and through. Kenny is an active member of the Windsor FFA chapter and keeps busy with his hobbies of raising and showing calves and riding horses. Last summer his Black Angus Steer won first place in his division at the Missouri State Fair. He also received ribbons on his entries in the American Royal. Kenny is now feeding four steers for showing this season and adds that his profits from his route helps buy the feed. He is a sophomore at Windsor High School and a member of the Windsor Methodist Church.

Let's Get Active, He Says

The cause of heart and circulatory diseases, No. 1 killer in the United States, now has been laid squarely on the doorstep of our prosperity.

A noted cardiologist, Dr. Howard B. Sprague, contends our high standard of living is directly responsible for heart conditions by making us fat, lazy—a nation of spectators.

Time was when most people blamed their work and their stresses for the predicament in which they placed their hearts. Dr. Sprague says, however, that "hardly anybody works any more as we used to think of work. Hardly anybody plays any more. We watch TV, or ride in cars, or go to the movies. . . . We just aren't burning up our fat."

Why not heed such good advice and stroll instead of loll?

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike Hopes to Pull Rabbit Out of Hat

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The late Franklin Roosevelt who died 15 years ago today, used to delight in what he called "pulling a rabbit out of the hat." This was how he described a surprise move in international or domestic relations.

President Eisenhower is now planning to pull a rabbit out of the hat to pave the way for a successful Summit Conference. He will send Charles Bohlen, ex-Ambassador to Russia, back to Moscow to work out a special understanding with Khrushchev regarding both Berlin and disarmament.

This became known as the Western Foreign Ministers began meeting in Washington today, still divided over Berlin, but with the problem uppermost of welding a united front regarding Berlin prior to the Summit Conference. Their split is between the French, Germans and Italians on one side who want to stand firm on Berlin, and the British, who want to compromise, on the other.

Hitherto, Eisenhower has been standing more or less midway between. However, he now plans to have Chip Bohlen, who speaks Russian perfectly and is well known and respected inside the Kremlin, talk turkey to the Russians. His message is going to be: Unless Khrushchev stops making threats regarding Berlin, the United States will agree to no disarmament.

Behind this is the State Department belief that Khrushchev urgently wants disarmament in order to concentrate on Russia's civilian economy and is willing to pay a price for it. That price, the State Department hopes, will be to quit demanding the free city of Berlin.

Note — Bohlen will return to Moscow ostensibly as house guest of Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, supposedly not on any diplomatic mission.

Sleeper Treaty
Hoping to catch the press asleep, the State Department will try to slip a loaded Treaty through Senate Foreign Relations Committee today (April 12) for the special benefit of 131 former Austrian Nazis and collaborators.

For five years, the Austrian government has been pulling diplomatic strings to settle the war claims of these ex-swastika flauters, finally got State Department to agree to pay them $6,000,000 for their war-seized property in the USA.

More than $5,000,000 of this sum will go to only two people: Oskar Teuber, an ex-Nazi, and Countess Marianne Thun-Hohenstein, a former German citizen loyal to Hitler. Both are described in a confidential Justice Department memo as having "considerable political influence in Austria."

Apparently the State Department considered the $6,000,000 settlement a price worth paying for the Austrian government's good will. The treaty was quietly signed on Jan. 30, 1959.

But for more than a year, the State Department has been trying to figure out a sleeper-play to get the treaty ratified by the Senate. Because of this, Eisenhower didn't even submit the Treaty to the Senate until a year after it was signed.

Then his message was couched in obscure language full of high-sounding, legalistic phrases. There was absolutely no mention of the pro-Nazi background of the 131 claimants, although most of them were convicted and punished under the 1947 Austrian Denazification Law.

Confidential Memo
However, there's a confidential memo in the Justice Department which gives the truth about this amazing Treaty. Senators should send for this memo. In case they can't get it, however, this column is able to publish the highlights.

"Almost all seized Austrian property has been returned, and this Treaty is concerned only with a residue of objectionable claimants," the memo declares. "The primary class of persons benefited are persons who were active collaborators with the Nazis, who aided the conspiracy which led to the downfall of Austria in 1938 and who are not entitled to favorable consideration either by the United States or Austria."

"The Austrian government is admittedly concerned primarily only with two of them: the claim of Oskar Teuber, a member of the Nazi party who claims return of property in excess of $1,000,000; and Countess Thun-Hohenstein, who was a German citizen residing in Germany

Guest Editorial

NEWARK NEWS: It's Still No Help. — An 80-billion-dollar federal budget by its very magnitude becomes just a figure. It's hard to picture that much money, and so the Tax foundation has obligingly tried to make it easier to comprehend.

The foundation has related the 1960-61 budget to the federal income tax paid by a $5,000-a-year wage earner. Assuming his tax bill amounts to $420, this is how his contribution is broken up: National security $240; interest on national debt, $51; veterans' benefits, $29; farm program, $29; labor and welfare, $24; commerce and housing, $14; international affairs, $21; natural resources, $10; general government, $10; others, $1.

All this undoubtedly is a good thing to know. But for all its lucidity, not even the Tax foundation makes it any easier for the taxpayer to understand, as the April 15 deadline approaches, why he still owes the government money after all those weekly tax deductions.

during the war and who has since married an Austrian and who claims a return of vested property valued at approximately $4,000,000. . . .

"Returns of seized property have been refused to United States citizens who resided in Germany during the war and collaborated with the enemy," the memo continues. "There is no reason to give Austrians better treatment than United States citizens who were similarly situated."

Profits from enemy property are supposed to be used to pay off the claims of American citizens whose property was destroyed during World War II. Since the available funds are insufficient to pay all the claims, the suppressed memo charges:

"The proposed Treaty would take away a portion of the funds which have been devoted by Congress as a trust fund for United States war claimants and would turn it over to Nazis, collaborators and war criminals."

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

CANDIDATES, TAKE NOTICE! — I don't want any of you to tax me in order to "aid" me. I don't want you to tax my neighbors to "aid" me. My vote is not for sale.

I want to stand on my own feet, and I want you to get all the moochers off my back. All proposals by you to extend Federal Welfareism beyond its present limits will get a black mark from me.

We have had all of this we can take. It's time to declare a moratorium, for at least five years, on all such legislation.

I can buy more welfare for me with the dollars you leave me than you can get for me with the dollars you take from me. For you never pay back all that you take. You have taxed everything I have, including my patience.

Any of you who scoffs at a balanced budget will make me vote for your opponent — of whatever party — who votes "NO" against more Federal or State debt. Uncle Sam has no uncle.

With a Federal debt of 290 billions; a deficit last year of 12 billions; with the cost of national defense growing; with foreign goods taking jobs away from Americans; with the dollar rotting away, and moral rot spreading all over the nation, it's time to return to the principles that made us strong, tough and free.

It's time for you to wean us.

Thought For Today

HOW MATURE ARE YOU?
by Donald J. Thorman
Author of Sanctity for the Married

We are surrounded today with men whose job is to make us live in a dream world. TV is a handy whipping boy to illustrate the point.

The Westerns and the cop-and-robber shows that clog the channels are designed to save us from the task of thinking. They catapult us into the make-believe world of the young child. Here everything ends happily and the good guys always win.

The soap operas do the same thing for the daytime audience. They catch countless women up in an unreal world of phony people.

When you come to think of it, there isn't a whole lot of difference between the children's programs and those aimed at adults. And when you do think about it, the implications become somewhat frightening.

Then, too, there's the world of advertising. This is a real pipe-dream world if there ever was one. Little Susie Stenographer is lulled into thinking that her romantic life will shift into high gear if she just uses the right soap.

And thousands of ad agency man-hours are spent in trying to fool Charlie Clerk into believing that smoking a certain brand of cigarette will make him seem more masculine and, therefore, more attractive to swooning Susie.

Even current funeral practices are aimed at trying to make the sting of death appear to be merely a mild itch. The appearance of calm sleep carefully shades the fact that a person has either won undying happiness or has run into an eternity of hell.

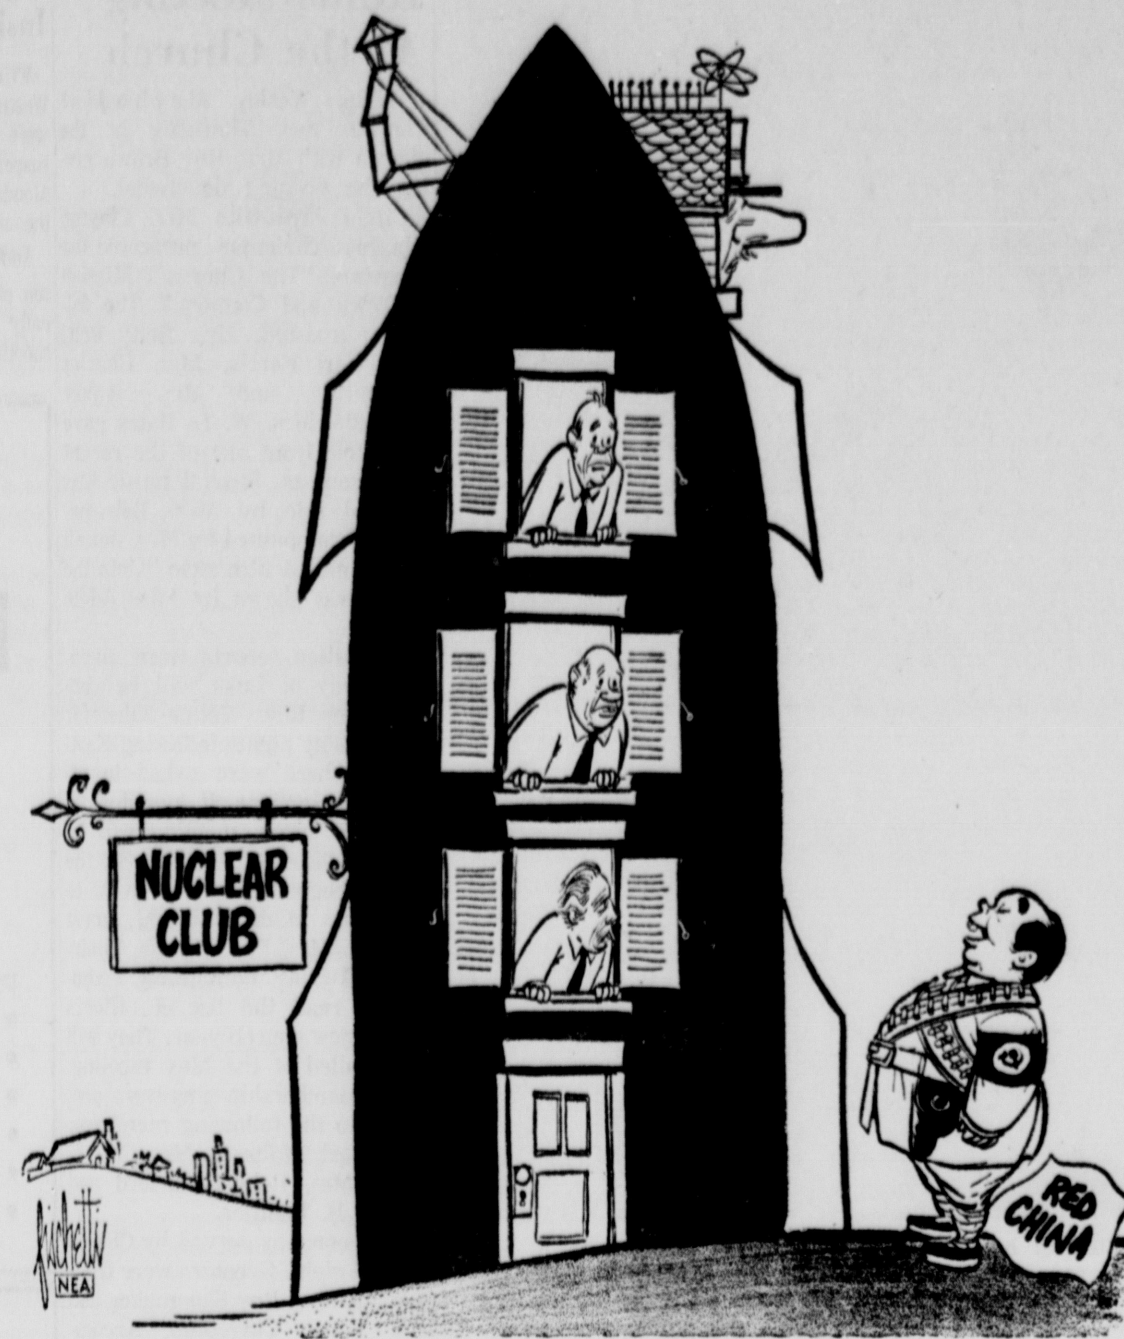

Yes, it's tough to be realistic these days. Despite the traps of an unrealistic civilization, it's just as important for us to cling firmly to a healthy and true outlook as it has been for every generation before us. Why? Because sooner or later death will come to us, and we will end up in heaven or hell.

What will keep us in contact with the truths of life and death, the reality of sin and the prospect of Judgment Day? A short time each day for thoughtful reading will help. So will prayer and a little thought about eternity.

But perhaps the most important step of all is the first one by which we learn to distinguish between reality itself and the dream world that exists all about us.

Health for Aged—A Campaign Issue

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question of health insurance for the aged will be a big 1960 campaign issue. But it's doubtful the Democrats and Republicans will do anything about it before the campaign.

There are more than 15½ million people over 65 in this country. The Democrats on a Senate Welfare subcommittee reported last February almost 60 per cent of them had less than $1,000 income in 1958.

President Eisenhower's administration has had plenty of time to prepare a health insurance program for the older people and submit it to Congress. Instead, as in many other problems, Eisenhower has ordered an exhaustive study.

Eight of Eisenhower's own Republican senators got fed up waiting and proposed a plan of their own. Eisenhower hasn't approved. His secretary of welfare, Arthur S. Flemming, suggested a plan. Eisenhower hasn't approved that, either.

The President wants no part of a proposal by Rep. Aime J. Forand, Rhode Island Democrat, to add health insurance for people over 65 to the Social Security program by boosting the present 3 per cent tax on employees and employers to 3¼ per cent. This would be "compulsory and it would be a government program."

Eisenhower condemned the idea at his March 30 news conference: "I have been against compulsory health insurance as a very definite step in 'socialized medicine.' That's what the American Medical Assn. and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce say, too. Although three of the Democrats would be presidential candidates."

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
A group of students of Smith-Cotton High School broadcast a program over radio station WOS, Jefferson City. They were: Lloyd Hayden Knox, Virginia May, Ilah Monsees, Robert Goetz, Frank Murl Selken, McClellan Blaylock, Hal Bremer, Temple H. Harris, Lucie Steelman, Ruth Ferguson, Helen Phillips and Richard Phillips.

1935
Lieutenant Edward Jenkins, Ft. Des Moines, Ia., and Tom Jenkins, who is attending the University of Missouri, spent the weekend with their mother, Mrs. C. A. Jenkins and brother, Charles, of West Seventh Street.

FORTY YEARS AGO
The city marshal will receive an annual salary of $1,500, an increase of $300 as result of an ordinance passed at city council meeting the night before the city election.

1920
Harry Kolbohn who has a position with an oil company at Ponca City, Okla., is home for a visit of several days.

1920
Dr. W. J. Ferguson was elected president of the Missouri State Medical Association by acclamation at the annual meeting in Jefferson City. He had served in that capacity up to the time he entered military service when he resigned.

dates—Sens. John F. Kennedy, Hubert H. Humphrey, and Stuart Symington—endorse Forand's idea he had less luck with his own Democrats in the House.

There the Ways and Means Committee, on which the Democrats outnumber the Republicans, turned down Forand's bill.

Roughly the kind of plan Flemming and the eight Republican senators were thinking of would require federal-state payments to help needy people over 65 pay the cost of hospital and medical care through private insurance firms.

The only kind of plan Eisenhower is reported to want is one that is voluntary and does not include any increase in the Social Security tax.

One of the main administration arguments against Forand's bill is that it is compulsory and would not benefit about four million older people not covered by Social Security.

On the other side, one of the main objections to the Flemming type of plan — with the federal government and states participating — is that there might be no rush by the states to embrace it.

The absence of a solid administration program — after seven years in office — provides the Democrats with a talking point in this year's elections.

Higher Number of People See Better Times Ahead

By FAYE HENLE

Are you and your family better or worse off financially than you were a year ago?

When a scientifically picked cross section of the nation's population replied to this question a few weeks ago, 73 per cent answered they were better off or as well off as they were last fall; 26 per cent felt they were worse off.

Interestingly enough, when asked this same question last October-November, 75 per cent replied they were better off or the same as in the spring of 1959; only 23 per cent felt they were worse off.

Queried on expectations of their financial status a year from now, 40 per cent expected betterment; another 40 per cent expect they'll be faring as well; 7 per cent expect a drop in income.

The proportion of people expecting to be "better off" was significantly higher than at any time during the past few years.

The source of my information is the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan which, since 1946, has made annual surveys of consumer finances. Several times each year this group also studies consumer attitudes toward buying and the major changes in the financial position of consumers.

Formerly the Federal Reserve Board alone bore the cost of these studies. However, they now are regarded as so important to business that major corporations and a Ford Foundation grant share the cost of finding out what we think of our financial well-being, what we think of the economic outlook and how we expect to spend our money.

Other high lights of the study show: Some 75 per cent of those queried expect good times to prevail during the next twelve months, against 61 per cent who voiced such optimism last fall.

However, the Democrats have been in control of Congress since 1954 and they haven't produced one, either. This looks like a golden opportunity for a couple of old political hands.

Those two Texans, Sen. Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, leaders of the Democrats in Congress, reportedly are now busy cooking up a plan to try to get through Congress this year.

It would furnish federally aided hospitalization, nursing home care and perhaps some other medical benefits for people over 65. But it isn't clear whether this would come under Social Security or be tackled some other way.

Since Johnson is also a would-be presidential candidate, success with this idea wouldn't hurt his popularity with a lot of people.

Last December Flemming said he'd have a program ready for Congress this year. But, according to reports March 19, when he unveiled it to Republican congressional leaders, they gave him a rough time.

He subsequently told a congressional committee he was fighting to get the administration to produce some kind of program as an alternative to the Forand bill.

The fear of inflation is still great. Some 72 per cent of those asked think prices will increase this year.

What interests me most is the improvement in sentiment toward the business outlook rather than marked optimism regarding individual financial expectations.

Between November 1959 and last February the attitudes of lower and middle income people improved to a greater extent than those of upper income people, yet upper income people continue more optimistic than those who earn less.

More people think this is a good time to buy cars and other durable goods than held this belief last fall. New car buying intentions are 20 per cent higher than they were a year ago.

However, compared to June or November 1959, the improvement is small. Compact cars are favored, meaning less total dollars will be spent for automobiles.

People are saying their ability to spend has increased and consumers' purchase plans for most household equipment is moderately up over last year.

In what income bracket do we find the largest number of spending units?

The study shows 26 per cent in the $5,000-$8,000-a-year bracket; 12 per cent each in the $1,000-$2,000 pretax income bracket and the $4,000-$5,000; 11 per cent each in the $3,000-$4,000, the $7,500-$10,000 and over-1,000 bracket.

More interesting than this perhaps is the fact that 10 years ago 14 per cent of those surveyed had pretax incomes under 1,000. There are but 7 per cent in this group now. Sharply in contrast, a decade ago 3 per cent of those surveyed had pretax incomes over $10,000; now 11 per cent make up this group.

With Billy Graham in Africa
By Tom McMahan, Religious
Editor, The State, Columbia, S.C.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — A green carpet was rolled across the railroad tracks as Billy Graham returned from his African tour to his home town where he used to milk cows and dream of a baseball career.

The famous evangelist, tanned and rested after a voyage across the Atlantic, was met by his 70-year-old father and several dozen well wishers, among them an old negro who wept as Graham clasped his hand.

A brief, informal press conference was held in a roped off area of the station platform. Then Graham drove to his boyhood home to see his mother who was unable to meet the train because of a foot ailment.

Later in the day Graham and his lovely wife, Ruth, who had met him in New York three days earlier, motored 100 miles to their mountaintop home where he saw their children for the first time in three months.

Graham told newsmen he hopes to relax a bit after one of his most strenuous campaigns. But he has consented to write articles this month for two of the nation's largest magazines. And he also plans to prepare a statement for a major wire service on the new anti-segregation movements in the South.

Questions about the racial situation dominated several well-attended news conferences in New York and Washington. Graham condemned South Africa's apartheid policies as un-Christian and un-workable. He declined comment on the wave of southern lunch counter sit-ins until he has had time to learn about the situation at first hand. He also said he would wait until he returned to his native Southland before speaking to the South on her problems.

In Washington Graham saw President Eisenhower, lunched with Vice President Nixon and went to the State Department where Secretary of State Herter assembled several of his top aides for an informal briefing that lasted several hours.

The President expressed interest in Graham's suggestion that he visit Nigeria next October when that most populous African nation will receive its independence. Such a gesture would demonstrate America's solidarity with the new African Nationalism, Graham said.

In New York Graham gave impressions of his African tour at a luncheon given in his honor by the chairman of his 1957 New York Crusade, Roger Hull, an insurance executive.

One of the guests, an investment broker who has long been a leading lay Bible teacher, said he wished every Christian leader in the nation could have heard Graham's report. "I was never challenged so much in my whole life," he explained.

As Graham spoke, two hotel waiters stood at one side and listened intently. Here are some highlights of his talk:

1. "The race problem has not hurt America in Africa materially as yet, but if it continues unresolved, it will hurt us badly. Somehow we've got to set an example or we will lose the friendship of one of the strategic parts of the world."

2. "Many have criticized Mr. Nkrumah (Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana). I'm not one of his critics. Africa has tradition of tribes and chiefs. Mr. Nkrumah has held his country together by building himself up as a new chief. . . . African leaders would be leaders in any country."

3. "What we saw and experienced gave me a tremendous new appreciation for missions. Every dollar we have invested in missions has paid off many times over."

4. "The African Church is warmly evangelical in its message. The closer to the frontier you get, the warmer your message has to be."

5. "In all my travels I never saw people more eager to learn. The students almost rebel against vacations. Many walk seven to ten miles to school."

6. "Africans want social acceptance and equality as much as political freedom. They respond to a smile and a simple exhibition of courtesy and friendship."

(Tom McMahan's series on Billy Graham's "Safari for Souls" in Africa is being put into a booklet which will also include other material on the tour and about 30 pages of pictures. Copies of the book, at $1.00 each postpaid, may be ordered from The State-Record Company, Box 150, Columbia, South Carolina.)

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

Last summer a Sedalia woman who has a lot of house plants, went on a trip. Among her plants, most of which are African violets, was a begonia that she had growing in a coffee can.

"Just put it out at the side of the house," she instructed the woman who was going to take care of it for her, "and water it occasionally."

The friend did as she was told and when the woman came back home her flowers were all doing fine, including the begonia. When fall came she brought the begonia in and it has been growing right along, but a short time ago she got up one morning to find that the coffee can was edged with tiny brand new grasshoppers, just as thick as they could be.

"That's the first time I ever heard of anything like that," she said. "And I have been raising house plants for years. All I did all day long was kill baby grasshoppers. But, she consoled herself, what if I hadn't noticed them at first? By the next day they would have been half grown and I'd had the whole house full of grasshoppers. — H. L.

IN A HOME where there is a tiny girl, the first child to a couple who has been married a number of years, the blessing is always said at the table. The little girl has only recently started to say words, but for a long time she has held her hands tight as her father would say, "Bless this food", and then continue on with the remainder of the blessing ending always with, "Bless Marlena and her mother."

Then the mother would say, "Bless Marlena and her daddy."

One day after grace had been said at the meal the parents were surprised to hear the baby, her little hands still clenched tight say, "Bless", and every meal she ends the grace with the one word she was able to pick up—"Bless". — H. L.

Presidential Aspirants
Are Men of Great Wealth

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a couple of exceptions, most of 1960 crop of presidential aspirants are men of considerable wealth.

It used to be axiomatic in politics that the candidate had to be a poor man. It was regarded as just dandy if he had been born in a log cabin. If he first saw daylight on a farm, that was merely routine.

But the supply of log cabins is running out. And Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), a multimillionaire, found that even his log cabin origin didn't help much in his 1952 try for the Democratic nomination.

The best estimates of politicians are that at least 25 million dollars will have been spent more or less directly in the presidential campaign by November.

One of the exceptions to the big money group of White House aspirants is Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the probable Republican presidential nominee. Nixon's assets reflect 13 years spent in public life without any outside personal income. He has a $35,000 equity in a $75,000 home, a 1955 Oldsmobile, some term insurance and savings accounts, no stocks or bonds.

As vice president, Nixon gets $30,000 a year salary and a $10,000 annual expense account. He also has a congressional pension coming to him through his membership in the Senate and House.

In a year when it's politically respectable to be a rich man, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) modestly admits he is worth "about a million, maybe only $900,000."

This would indicate he hasn't improved his financial standing much since his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, gave him a million-dollar trust fund when he was 9. The elder Kennedy is usually tabbed in the 400-million-dollar bracket, but young Jack has never been much interested in just making money.

One of Kennedy's top rivals for the Democratic nomination, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, rates his financial condition as "average." He thinks if he sold out today he would cash in for around $200,000. But his wife is worth a lot more.

Johnson has property, cattle, bank stocks and bonds. He has told his financial managers not to buy any common stocks because of his position in Congress. He refrains from voting on matters concerning the Federal Communications Commission because of his wife's TV-radio holdings.

Mrs. Johnson's holdings, all in her own name, include about a half interest in two T Vand two radio stations. Her own holding company has a 29 per cent interest in two other stations.

Mrs. Johnson's property includes some extensive land holdings and the LBJ ranch, the family home in Texas. It is estimated to be worth around $750,000.

Johnson lists his birthplace as "near Johnson City, Tex.," and thus could claim to be farm-born.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), who is in there pitching for the Democratic nomination, calls himself "comfortably" fixed. He sold out his Emerson Electric Company in St. Louis for about a million dollars when he first went into government.

Mrs. Symington is independently wealthy. She and her husband have placed their holdings in trust. Symington's instructions are that the trust must not buy any airplane stock. Otherwise it has a free hand in managing his financial affairs.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), contesting Kennedy in the primaries, added up his wealth to "about average for a small town druggist." He was a druggist before he got into politics in 1945.

The Minnesota senator called his cash assets "very limited." He said they include about $6,000 in savings and about $4,000 in mutual securities. He has a paid-for home in Washington but owes about $17,000 on a house in Minnesota.

Adlai E. Stevenson, who says he doesn't expect to get a third presidential nomination, is estimated by friends to be worth about half a million dollars.

Bethel E&R Church
Plans New Building

The congregation of the Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church of Concordia, decided at a business meeting recently of plans for a new church building and construction is to begin in the near future.

The new structure will be located at Eighth and Gordon Street, just north of the parsonage. The building will be of L shape construction. The church area will be 36X66, seating capacity will be 200. An overflow area to be used for Sunday School class rooms will seat an additional 120 people.

An educational unit will be 36X37 feet and will consist of the main floor and basement.

A large fellowship hall, kitchen and choir facilities will be under the church and overflow area.

The interior of the building will be of velou faced brick. The contract for construction of the building has been awarded to the Lane Construction of Kansas City, having made the lowest bid.

Ground breaking services for the new structure will be on East Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m.

NEW HOPE FOR HARD OF HEARING

Sedalia, April 12th. — Something new has just been announced. It is an electronic development designed for those who hear but who do not understand words. There is nothing in either ear. No dangling cords. No tubes. The sound vibrations are conducted right through the bones of the head to the inner ear, and right to your center of understanding. We have termed this process "Vibratory Sensory Conduction" — truly secret hearing.

The manufacturer has been able to produce a hearing device so small that many who wear it report "No one knows I have a hearing deficiency". It is said to be very reasonably priced.

This new instrument is manufactured by Audivox, Inc., Successors to Western Electric Hearing Aid Division and makers of "The hearing aid your doctor knows".

Further information and details may be obtained by . . . Calling Kenneth Ganther at Hotel Bothwell between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. for personal interview, April 14th.

MODERN Concrete

"Concrete streets certainly added to the safety of our neighborhood!"

Peace-of-mind goes with concrete pavement! Its grainy surface assures safe, sure stops—gives you dependable skid resistance—even in wet weather. It stays smooth and level, too. There are no potholes to cause dangerous swerves. You're always in control of your car.

And because clean-colored concrete reflects light four times more than any dark surface, you can see and be seen far better at night—a real comfort, driving or walking.

Yet with all this built-in safety, modern concrete offers moderate first-cost and continued low maintenance. Reasons enough to make it the preferred pavement for residential streets everywhere.

Get together with your neighbors!
If your street needs paving, make your preference for concrete known. Concrete is the only pavement that can be accurately engineered to carry the expected traffic loads on your street and lasts 50 years and more.

S-C Tigers Capture Clinton Track Meet

Smith-Cotton Tigers captured the triangular track meet held at Clinton, Monday afternoon, over Clinton and Warrensburg Public High. The Tigers scored 74 points, Clinton 64½ and Warrensburg 9½ points.

The Tiger thinclads took nine and a half first places, placed five seconds, three thirds and four fourth place winners; Clinton tracksters won four and a half first places, six seconds, nine third, and four and a half fourths; Warrensburg didn't score a first,

Mighty Atlas Will Wrestle Sandy Scott

It's wrestling time again tonight at Convention Hall and there's sure to be some wild action before the night is over.

From the time Mighty Atlas and

Sandy Scott

Sandy Scott get things started at 8:15 until the final bell ending the six-man team event, the pros will be hard at it to make an impressive showing.

The heavyweight team event calls for the Scott brothers, George and Sandy, to join with Mexican speedsters, Gory Guerrero, against Lee Henning, Mighty Atlas and Taro Myaki.

The Scotts are hoping that the addition of a third man to their side won't change their luck. So far, they've been an unbeatable combination and have their sights set on moving to the very top of the wrestling ladder.

They'll have their hands full with the powerful trio of veterans. Everyone who has seen Henning wrestle knows he gives no quarter and ask none. And Atlas is one of the three strongest men in the pro ranks. Addition of the cagey Myaki, who is expert in Sumo and Jui-Jitsu, makes the team extra hard to handle.

Myaki is also pitted against Guerrero in a single event, which should produce some wild action as the speedy Mexican goes for an upset.

The women's side of the card pits veteran Dot Dotson against the fast-rising Jessica Rogers in a match that has all the ingredients for some rugged action. Jessica could gain ground by taming the fiery Dotson, a seasoned campaigner.

Starting time for tonight's show, sponsored by Pettis County American Legion Post No. 16, is 8:15.

A's Lumber Silent In Last Few Games

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics have been held to three runs or less in 7 of their last 9 baseball games on the spring exhibition circuit.

The A's outhit Baltimore 8-7 yesterday but left 8 men stranded. The Orioles abandoned only four. Baltimore defeated the A's 5-2. It was the 8th loss for Kansas City in its last 9 games.

Manager Bob Elliott said "we know our hitting is better than that. No one is hitting right now but we'll get started. I just hope they're saving it up for the season."

won two seconds, two thirds, and three and a half fourth places.

Garry Holdeman continued his dominating way in the Pole Vault, winning the meet with a vault of 12 feet, one and a half inches, setting a new record for the Clinton meets. Holdeman was but an inch and a half off the 12 feet, 3 inch record any pole vaulter set for a Smith-Cotton track team.

The Smith-Cotton record was set up in 1943 by Danny Van Dyne who sailed over the cross bar at 12' 3". Holdeman's vault is the closest any Tiger has come to the record in recent years.

A lover of the pole vault event, Holdeman was competing in near perfect conditions for the first time this year. He began with a 10 foot vault and has consistently raised the bar scoring next at 10'6", 11', 11'6" and then the 12'1½" and it was at this point Clinton's top man, Evans dropped by the wayside.

He came near to clearing the bar at 12'4½ inches at one time. On his first attempt he cleared the bar at four inches above 12 feet but a delayed push, caused him to displace the bar; on the next try the Clinton stands were cheering wildly for him to make it, when he skipped the bar with his hand on the way down causing the bar to vibrate just enough for it to fall a moment later. On the third try for the 12'4½ he cleared the bar by nearly six inches but a bad release of the pole deprived him of a successful clearance and a new Smith-Cotton record.

Ronnie Jones uncorked a 48 foot shotput for a first place, bettering his Marshall mark by two feet. The Tiger cindermen took a first in the 880 relay in 1:36.1; a 2:11.3 for Terry Lynn in the 880 run, a first; Charles Case first in the low hurdles at :22.0; Jones heave of the discus of 128 feet, and his 48 foot, (Jones had one heave of 53 feet but scratched and was disqualified on the throw). Jack Benner had a pleasant surprise when he took the 220 dash for a first in :23.9; (Leon Keller and Jack Taylor were second and third and it was the turning point of the meet for the Tigers who had been trailing in points).

Although the time of the mile relay was not too good but the event was a thrilling one as the Sedalians won in 3:47.8. Tremendous :54.9 and :55 seconds hauls by Mac Franklin and Charles Case, the Tiger anchor man, gave the victory to the Tigers. Case and Clinton's anchorman ran abreast for the last sixty yards before Case nudged him out.

Tuesday the Tigers journey to Marshall to the Missouri Valley Invitational Meet. The first home meet will be Thursday in a dual contest with the Jefferson City Jays on the Jenny Jaynes Stadium track and field.

Johnson Joins Former Lions Mates in Pitt

DETROIT (AP)—Old Detroit Lions never die, they just go to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The latest to join the Lion alumni club in Pittsburgh is full-back John Henry Johnson.

Detroit traded Johnson to Pittsburgh Monday for the top Steeler draft choice in 1961 and 1962.

Johnson joins such other former Detroit problem children as quarterback Bobby Layne and back Tom Tracy on the Steelers coached by former Lion Coach Buddy Parker although Layne and Tracy had some troubles in the Lion camp, they have flourished at Pittsburgh.

Rare Split Bill This Year

National League Begins Big Pennant Quiz Today

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Can the Dodgers do it again? Have the Giants found the pitching? Can Chuck Dressen regain the touch with the Braves or can the Braves regain the touch with Chuck Dressen?

The answer to one question will answer them all, and the National League gets to work on the quiz today, opening the 1960 baseball season a week ahead of the American League.

The world champion Dodgers, still at home in the spacious and audacious Los Angeles Coliseum, open with a night game against the Chicago Cubs. Milwaukee's Braves, who lost the 1959 pennant in a playoff with the Dodgers, and the San Francisco Giants, popular pre-season picks, open at home in afternoon games—the Braves against Pittsburgh and the Giants in their new Candlestick Park against St. Louis.

The Cincinnati Reds, as usual, also open at home, against Philadelphia.

While today's openers come a couple of days later than last year's, the majors have come up with a rare split bill, American League clubs, still playing exhibitions in Florida, don't start playing for real until Monday, when Washington and Boston stage the traditional opener in the nation's capital.

It's right-hander Don Drysdale, whose troubles in a 17-13 season made it tough for the Dodgers a year ago, against the Cubs and right-hander Bob Anderson. Dodger manager Walt Alton has named virtually the same line-up that won it all last season—Gil Hodges at first, Charlie Neal at second, Maury Wills at short, Junior Gilliam at third, Wally Moon, Don Demeter and Duke Snider in the outfield and John Roseboro behind the plate.

The Cubs, with Charlie Grimm replacing Bob Scheffing for his third stand as manager, have four new faces among the starters, but only one is a rookie, Richie Ashburn, late of the Phillies, is in center; Frank Thomas, last with Cincinnati, at third; Don Zimmer, long a Dodger, at short, and newcomer Lou Johnson in right.

The Giants, who blew a two-game lead in the last 10 days of the season a year ago, picked 21-game winner Sam Jones for their debut in the new 15-million-dollar park against the Cards and right-hander Larry Jackson (14-13).

Manager Bill Rigney, on the spot in what shapes up as another three-way fight with the Dodgers and Braves, has Don Blasingame at second base, but the rest of the Giant line-up is about the same. The big difference is in the bullpen and on the bench with the addition of pitchers Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes from Baltimore, Dale Long from the Cubs and Jim Marshall from Boston.

Right fielder Leon Wagner and shortstop Daryl Spencer, whom the Giants gave up to get Blasingame as a leadoff hitter, were in Manager Solly Hemus' starting line-up for the Cards.

Milwaukee, missing a third straight pennant under Fred Haney by just one game last year, try this time with Dressen, a manager again after serving as a coach with the Dodgers. Dressen, who bossed pennant winners at Brooklyn, had just one rookie, left fielder Al Spangler, in the line-up behind southpaw Warren Spahn (21-15).

The Pirates, trying to delay Spahn's 268th victory, started with slumped-down right-hander Bob Friend (8-19). Catcher Hal Smith, previously with Kansas City, was the only newcomer in Manager Danny Murtaugh's starting line-up.

The new faces club is Philadelphia. Manager Eddie Sawyer, whose Phillies are almost a unanimous pick to finish last again, named only three holdovers from last April — starting right-hander Robin Roberts (15-17), making his 11th consecutive opening day appearance; left fielder Harry Anderson, and first baseman Ed Bouchee.

Manager Freddie Hutchinson picked Jim Brosnan (9-6), a right-hander, to start for the Reds, Billy Martin, acquired in the swap that sent Johnny Temple to Cleveland, made his NL debut at second base with rookie Tony Gonzalez in right.

Given a break by the weather, the National expected to set an opening day attendance record. A crowd of 50,000 is the hope at Los Angeles, which could swell the day's total to about 165,000.

Blacklisted Writers Do Many Scripts for Films

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

Second of three articles

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Since 1947, the lot of the Communist in Hollywood has not been an easy one.

That was not always so. During the 30s when the Depression made radicalism more fashionable, a tight group of leaners to the far left arose in the film colony. They were not many in number, but they were vocal and well organized.

With the advent of World War II, the parlor pinks became rebels with a cause—the cause of victory for the Soviet Union over the Nazis. They broke out with committees and rallies, and many non-Communist Americans joined them as a gesture to our wartime allies.

Even the capitalist producers helped further the Soviet cause. With government encouragement, they made such Red-praising films as "Mission to Moscow," "North Star" and "Song of Russia."

The height of the Communist power saw them muscling in on some of the guilds and unions, especially the old Screen Writers Guild. But that power started to melt with the raising of the Iron Curtain and the nation's disillusionment with the aims of the Kremlin.

Armageddon for Hollywood communism came at hearings of the House Committee on Un-American Affairs in October 1947. It was a star-studded show.

Robert Taylor said communists disrupted Screen Actors Guild meetings and was applauded when he declared, "If I had my way, they all would be sent back to Russia." Louis B. Mayer said the Reds had been prevented from subverting the screen and argued they should be denied the sanctuary of the freedom they seek to destroy. Other friendly witnesses: Gary Cooper, Adolphe Menjou, Ronald Reagan, Jack L. Warner, Robert Montgomery, George Murphy, Walt Disney.

Another group of witnesses was not so friendly. Ten film creators refused to answer whether they were or had been Communists. They were cited for contempt of Congress.

Eric Johnston, head of the major producers, and Donald Nelson, leader of the independents, joined in deploring the action of the 10.

"We will forthwith discharge or suspend without compensation those in our employ, and we will not re-employ any of the 10 until such time as he is acquitted or has purged himself of contempt and declares under oath that he is not a Communist," Johnston said. The unfriendly 10 appealed their contempt convictions and lost, were fined $1,000 each and sent to jail for a year.

The 10 got out of jail and lapsed into obscurity, except for Edward Dmytryk, who recanted and became a bigger director than before.

Little was heard of the others until the affair of the unclaimed Oscar.

In 1957, the Motion Picture Academy gave a scripting award to Robert Rich for "The Brave One." No Robert Rich came forth to claim it. Finally, he was identified as Dalton Trumbo, an unfriendly witness.

Trumbo now says: "It is a matter of public knowledge that I and other blacklisted writers have done many scripts for the major producers. In some instances, our identity has not been known by the studios; in some instances, it has."

One question has remained unanswered: If Trumbo wrote "The Brave One," why doesn't he claim the orphaned Oscar?

"An Oscar is something that is awarded to you," the writer told me. "It hasn't been sent to me, and I'm not going to ask for it."

Wesley Circle II Holds March Meet

Circle II, Wesley Methodist Church, met at the home of Mrs. Glen Cromley, March 31, with 13 members and one guest, Mrs. Paul Chalfant, present.

Mrs. S. M. Glass Jr., chairman, called the meeting to order with Mrs. Walter Niles giving the opening prayer. The devotional, entitled "The Face Character," was given by Mrs. Janet Roberts. The program "Concerning Stewardship of the Church" was given by Mrs. Walter Niles in which Mrs. Harry Burford, Mrs. Darrel Van Baale, Mrs. Lee Young and Mrs. Guy Davis, took part.

Mrs. Jess Hageman and Mrs. H. W. Pohl were welcomed into the circle as new members and received year books. Mrs. Bill Renshaw presented corsages to Mrs. Harry Burford and Mrs. Guy Davis for birthdays.

After the business meeting refreshments were served to the group.

Ernie Urbane In Killer's Role Monday

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Kovacs, usually involved with broad jokes and sight gags, turned up on the home screen Monday night as an urbane murderer. The playlet, on NBC's Goodyear Theater, was "Author at Work," a comedy in the French manner.

The tale concerned one Honore St. Etienne, bookkeeper turned blackmailer and played by Henry Jones, who does marvelous menacing bookkeepers. After 10 years of diligent research he has proved that the plots of world-famous novelist Maximilian Kroh are based on the maestro's own experiences. The plots in 22 books add up to 22 murders. St. Etienne suggests a small pension in exchange for silence.

"I have no imagination," replies Kroh, suavely loading a gun. "I can only write that I experience."

End of bookkeeper, beginning of new book, and curtain. Unfortunately, most of us are now so accustomed to Alfred Hitchcock's sophisticated and gay killers the ending came as no particular surprise.

NBC still has its fall schedule only pencilled in and many entries are subject to change, but a number of current shows appear likely to be sunk in that network's channels, among them Alcoa-Goodyear Theater, Arthur Murray Party and "M-Squad."

Engaging 13-year-old Eddie Hodges doesn't even look his real age, so he was less convincing as 15-year-old Andrew Carnegie in Sunday's "Millionaire's Mite." It was amusing to note that while little Eddie had a mere suggestion of a Scotch burr in his voice, the grown-up Andrew (David Wayne) had such a brogue he was occasionally difficult to understand.

Jimmy Durante and Garry Moore, partners in a weekly radio show between 1943 and 1947 will be back together on April 19 for the first time in 13 years. As a guest on Garry's Tuesday night musical variety show, the Schnoz and his onetime junior partner will repeat one of their old bits. Mike Nichols and Elaine May are regular visitors on NBC's weekend radio show, "Monitor," and sound almost as bright and biting as they look and act on television.

"Fibber McGee and Molly" did not make the grade as an NBC evening show this season, but it will return next Monday — a daytime show. Because it didn't finish a season, the first seven episodes will be new. Then, as happens on most filmed daytime shows, it swings into repeats.

Recommended tonight: Red Skelton Show, CBS, 9:30-10—with Audrey Meadows in a topical sketch about census takers; Garry Moore Show, CBS, 10-11 — Patricia Munsel and comedian Alan King join the Moore show regulars.

Home Bldg. Declines

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Home building will decline in 1960 due principally to higher interest rates, says Nathaniel Rogg, chief economist for the National Assn. of Home Builders.

Business will be good this year, but the predicted boom will not materialize and those who forecast one for 1960 were "overly optimistic," Rogg told the association's regional convention.

Gruenther Declines

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, former NATO commander and now president of the American National Red Cross, says he considers himself totally unqualified as a candidate for vice president on the Republican ticket.

Asked Monday about reports he might be considered as a candidate, Gruenther told a news conference: "I have no political talent and I think I'm smart enough to realize it."

Allies Start Pre-Summit Talks Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allied foreign ministers start a round of pre-summit talks today with a blunt reminder that East-West leaders can't hope to settle their bitter disputes at a single conference.

"The road to peace is a long and hard one and no one can now say when the goal will be reached," the State Department said in publishing a book of background documents.

The series of meetings opens this afternoon with a strategy session bringing together Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. The three Allied foreign policy chiefs, meeting in an atmosphere of low-key optimism, were reported confident they could draft combined proposals their government chiefs will lay before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at next month's Paris summit meeting.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano joins them Wednesday and the Italian and Canadian foreign ministers will be brought into the disarmament discussion later.

In a deliberate move to curb excessive hope, the State Department published a bulky document recalling how the 1955 summit meeting at Geneva failed to break the East-West deadlock. The 478-page book of documents, nearly an inch thick, also recalled the tangle of proposals and counter-proposals that led to the decision to have the Big Four leaders try again in Paris May 16.

With an eye on this second conference, the State Department said in a summary: "It would be unrealistic to expect that these grave issues can be resolved at one heads-of-government conference."

Despite the obstacles, however, it pledged the United States would persevere in its drive to find area of agreement with the Communist bloc.

It foresaw "an important tangible gain" toward such a goal in the closer personal contacts established by President Eisenhower and Khrushchev in their Camp David talks last September.

None of the documents published were new. They covered the five-year period since the last summit conference.

The caution against over-optimism matched the note that British Secretary Lloyd struck Monday as he arrived from London. Lloyd, however, added a prediction that a summit parley would man-French opposition as well as a toughening American attitude on this issue.

Differences on disarmament were described as almost nonexistent.

Herter was reported taking a dim view of a French suggestion for joint Western-Soviet economic aid to underdeveloped countries. He was also reported unenthusiastic about a British-French idea of trying to persuade the Soviet Union to agree to an international code of conduct.

Heart Massage Brings Life Back to Officer

DETROIT (AP) — Patrolman Edward R. Dickerson, 30, was having a cup of coffee in a downtown restaurant Monday when he toppled to the floor.

Firemen rushed him to a nearby hospital. Doctors there called it a heart attack. They could detect no heartbeat so they opened Dickerson's chest and began massaging his heart.

Some 25 minutes later the heart began beating again, but Dickerson's condition was listed as critical.

Adlai Gets Some Support Despite View

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson drew support today for the Democratic presidential nomination despite his own disavowals.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), announcing he is for Stevenson, said a personal survey indicates other candidates believe the two-time party nominee is the man most likely to win the nomination if they themselves don't succeed.

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) said in a separate interview a poll showing Stevenson as second choice of Wisconsin's 31-vote delegation indicates the former Illinois governor might get some early support from that state at the Los Angeles nominating convention.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.) who is trying to block a victory by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) in the May 10 West Virginia primary, said there is a "considerable" residue of support for Stevenson in his state.

Stevenson, just returned from a lengthy South American tour, makes a formal address tonight at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville.

Significantly, perhaps, some of those who worked in his campaign in 1956 were called into help get advance texts of the speech distributed widely.

On his return Monday, Stevenson stuck to the line that he won't seek the nomination and doesn't expect to be nominated.

Monroney and Proxmire, who is remaining neutral in the nomination contest, agreed that Stevenson's position of not being a candidate gives him an advantage over most of his potential rivals.

Proxmire noted that Kennedy and Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) have been piling up Senate voting records which have their political liabilities as well as their assets.

"While all of the senators are embroiled in a lot of controversies, Stevenson is standing off from the fray," Proxmire said. "His views are well known in general, but he doesn't have to get himself involved in details."

"It is significant to me that he seems to be the one possibility that is looked upon favorably as a second choice in every section of the country."

Monroney said he has found evidences of widespread support for Stevenson among rank and file members of the party.

Stevenson obviously will have a backlog of strength among delegates pledged to Humphrey, if the latter falls out of the running.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), who is running in the District of Columbia, Maryland and Oregon primaries, has said he will be for Stevenson if he can't get the nomination himself.

Present ICBMs on Way Out

Electronic Device Will Revolutionize

IN THE TWEEZERS is an amplifier, the size of a small coin, which performs the same function as the present model on the table.

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A new breakthrough in electronics will spark a revolution in U.S. intercontinental missiles within five to seven years.

This is one major reason the U.S. does not want to stockpile too many Atlas, Titan, or Minuteman missiles. This is why the Defense Department is willing to chance the Russians out-producing Americans in ICBMs during the next three or four years.

The breakthrough has occurred in the field called molecular electronics. Scientists take a pure crystal and, by use of an extremely hot gas, force another metal into, on, or through it in specks to produce a series of electronic gadgets or parts in one small metal chunk.

A combination of three to five of these tiny metal crystals, properly treated, may eventually replace all the "works" in a TV set except the screen. The combination would be a glob of metal no larger than a penny.

This development could make today's ICBMs obsolete within those five to seven years.

Here's what top Air Force and Westinghouse scientists working on the project say:

1. It will make possible intercontinental 15,000 mile-an-hour missiles that can dodge enemy anti-missile missiles.

Electronic gadgets within the missile would be set to follow several courses. If the missile's "eye" saw an enemy weapon approach, the missile could automatically change to another path preset in its electronic works. Another eye, no larger than a dime, could "home in" the weapon to the exact target.

Such a missile would be impossible today. The guidance system would occupy all the insides of the present Atlas, Titan or Minuteman missiles, leaving no space for a bomb load. Also it would be so complicated in terms of parts and connections that it probably would work only once in five tries.

2. The breakthrough could mean a three-stage intercontinental missile with the last stage a small warhead almost impossible to hit at 15,000 mile-an-hour speeds.

3. The United States, with the molecular electronics theory, could start building more complicated intercontinental missiles, twice as reliable as present models, in approximately six years.

In effect, this nation would then be capable of knocking out all major Russian targets with half the number of ICBMs now considered necessary.

4. This new technique theoretically will make possible an anti-missile missile with the "homing instincts" of the Sidewinder air-to-air missile which put the fear of death into Red China's jet fighter pilots off Formosa. Yet

St. Joseph Man Is Elected Head Of DeMolay

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Albert J. McNally, head of an insurance company at St. Joseph, Mo., was elected grand master of the Order of DeMolay by its supreme council Monday.

Clarence W. Head of Pittsburgh, Pa., assistant treasurer of the Aluminum Corp. of America, was named secretary-general — chief administrative officer for the Masonic youth organization's 2,100 chapters in 22 countries and territories.

Head succeeds Frank S. Land, who founded the organization in Kansas City in 1919 and was its secretary-general until his death Nov. 8.

Head has been a member of the supreme council since 1948 and was grand master in 1958-59. He is 65.

McNally, who is 59, has been a member of the supreme council since 1945. He served as deputy grand master the past year. He has been executive officer in charge of northwest Missouri chapters since 1946 and in charge of western Missouri chapters since 1955.

About 400 representatives from 40 councils are attending the supreme council meeting in Tucson. Twenty new members were elected to its 30-man executive committee and one of those dropped was former president Harry S. Truman.

Arthur O. Olson of Tulsa and William A. Hensley of Bartlesville, Okla., were named grand preceptors. Hensley also is a new member of the executive committee.

the new missile could have the speed, range, and destructive power of an ICBM.

How will this electronic "miracle" make these developments possible?

Scientists say the new tiny electronic parts which use the natural molecular structure of metals are far more reliable and lasting than man-made gadgets.

With molecular electronics, one tiny piece may contain 10, 100, or even 1,000 parts. The number of connections in a missile could be reduced by a million or more. The number of parts in a missile may be cut 10 or 100-fold. The total size of the electronics equipment in a missile could be reduced 10, 100, or 1,000 times.

And it's the connections which often break down in rattling, jolting and firing of missiles. They're sometimes weakened when the missile is moved or put into place or by sudden temperature changes. It's these parts or connections which often cause missiles to misfire or miss the target. In today's missiles with 800,000 parts and twice that number of connections, it is more likely than not, that a big ICBM will not get to its destination.

Much of the research on molecular electronics has been done by Westinghouse which spent about four million dollars under Air Force sponsorship. Close behind are Motorola, Texas Instruments, RCA, and some others.

Now if the Russians haven't already mastered this trick, too, U.S. scientists think this molecular electronic wizardry should permit us to catch up with the Russians in four to five years.

That's a big "if." There is evidence that the Soviet scientists already have developed molecular electronics.

You can expect your muscles to develop their greatest horsepower between the ages of 20 and 25.

Insurgents Are Bottled in Cuba; Castro Is Silent

HAVANA (AP)—An insurgent band led by a former Castro officer was reported bottled up in the Sierra Maestra Mountains of eastern Cuba today, but the government refused to talk about it.

Unconfirmed reports said troops and militiamen in Oriente province were moving in on an encircled group of about 40 guerrillas led by Manuel Beaton, former captain in Fidel Castro's revolutionary forces. It was from these mountains that Castro launched his revolution.

Maj. Calixto Garcia, commander of the mountain area, refused to discuss the reports with newsmen who reached him by telephone at his headquarters in Palma Soriano.

Military authorities in Havana and officials in Oriente province said they knew nothing about Beaton or his guerrillas.

The semi-official newspaper Revolucion said Saturday that Beaton was heading a gang of bandits in the area. The paper accused the band of killing a peasant, Francisco Tamayo, who had been associated with Castro during the revolution. But the Havana newspaper El Crisol later identified Tamayo as chief of a government army unit.

Another unconfirmed report said a second guerrilla band was roaming the Sierra Cristal, a mountain range north of the Sierra Maestra.

Beaton recently escaped from Havana's La Cabana military fortress, where he had been held on charges of killing an army major and two soldiers at the gates of Camp Libertad, outside the capital, several months ago.

Beaton denied he was responsible for the shooting. Friends said he had been made a scapegoat.

Jake admired Indians so much he begged his mother to give him a Mohawk haircut. She finally did and there wasn't a prouder boy than Jake when he showed up at the Brady Elementary School with a narrow strip of hair down the center of his otherwise bald head.

Explosion Hurts Two

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP)—Two men were injured Monday in an explosion of a cracking unit in a new section of the Skelly Oil Co. refinery.

The men were Wayne Willitt, 21, of El Dorado and John Ramp, 23, Towanda. Both were reported in good condition at an El Dorado hospital.

But Mary C. Sullivan, school principal, didn't like Jake's haircut and sent him home. She said he couldn't come back until his hairdo was changed. Over the weekend, Jake's mother trimmed down the strip of hair.

Jake is back in school now.

Biggest US Embezzler Gets 25 Years in Pen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A heating contractor has been sentenced to 25 years in prison for an embezzlement termed by prosecutors "the largest in the nation, if not in the world."

John A. Hendrickson, a heating contractor, was accused of misappropriating $3,714,610 from the former Long Beach National Bank. He denied it, was convicted by a jury, and later admitted his guilt. Sentence was passed Monday.

U.S. attorneys said the nation's biggest embezzlement came to light when George Albert Hewlett, an official of the bank, committed suicide. In his garage investigation from $15,000 to $25,000 all payable toors found 83 checks, ranging to Hendrickson.
